Course Description:
----------------------------

This course focuses on the principles and practices of reading and writing. Students will develop ideas, consider the audience, review basic grammar, and use critical thinking skills to improve overall writing skills.

Course Objectives:

- The main purpose of this course is to introduce you to the conventions of academic writing and critical thinking. There are many reasons as to why we write.

We write to communicate to others; we write to convince others that our position has validity; and we write to discover new things about our world, as well as ourselves. Writing can become a medium for self-reflection, self-expression, and communication—a means of coming to know for both the writer and the reader.

- -Learning to write requires writing. Writing is a craft, and as a craft, writing can be learned and refined. Ultimately, writing takes practice, and as a writer, you will have ample opportunities to write both in the classroom and outside of it –
- This course will offer you ample opportunities to practice writing so that you become a more effective writer by the end of this course than you were at the start. Also, you will develop a greater understanding of what you need to consider to continue to develop as a writer. Remember, writing is a process and an evolving process. It requires effort, dedication and time. –
- It is my hope that you will discover also that writing, reading and learning are intricately intermeshed. Writing is based on experience—experience with a text or personal experience—and that reading is a means to broadening experiences. Much of the readings and ensuing discussions may challenge more commonly accepted assumptions and beliefs. You will be required to critically rethink and reevaluate popular concepts and ideas (this may also challenge your own ideas, SO please keep an open mind). One of the main goals of this class will be to understand how language informs and shapes our culture and society, as well as our everyday lives and practices. Together we will become more critically conscious of the world that we inhabit.

Student Learning Outcomes (SLOs):

1. Develop ideas about a topic for the purpose of writing, organizing, selecting and relating ideas, and develop them in coherent paragraphs and essays.
2. Use a variety of writing styles for different audiences, and improve writing by correcting errors, restructuring, and rewriting.
3. Write essays and other works to include drafts, journals, and in-class writing.

Texts and Materials:

To do well in this class, you should plan to attend and participate in class on a regular and consistent basis. Success means regularly doing your best. Also, being late to class consistently will impact your grade.

Final Grades are figured as follows: A=90+%; B=80-89%; C= 70-79%; D=60-69% and F=50-59%.

Here are the required assignments for this course, and their point values:

- a. Quizzes.....3@20 pts. Each = 60 pts.
- b. Short Papers.....2@ 100 pts. Each=200 pts.
- c. Journal.....80 pts.
- d. Final.....100 pts.
- e. Attendance/Discussion.....100 pts.
- TOTAL.....540 pts.

Quizzes

3 quizzes will be given on the required reading material. This breaks down to a quiz approximately 1 quiz every other week.

Short Papers

Two papers (Three to five full-pages in length) on assigned topics will be due during weeks three and five.

Journal

You will be required to turn in a journal entry each week. Every entry is worth 10 points. We will discuss specifics in class.

Final

The final exam will be comprehensive. You may use your book, notes, for the exam.

Attendance and Discussion

Please note that there are 100 points available just for showing up to class and participating. Earning points doesn't get much easier than that!

Himdag Cultural Component:

Himdag Cultural Component: the students will reflect on the T-Sa:san/Himdag throughout the semester and write about their understanding of cultural aspects in the Academic Response Journal.

Policies and expectations-

, Policies and expectations-In addition to any other TOCC policies specified in the Student Handbook, the following

-Late work will not be accepted unless you arrange an alternate due date BEFORE the stated due date.

- No Incomplete grades are awarded in this course.

-Be punctual for class and attend every class. You are part of a team and attending all classes (and completing all assigned work in preparation for class activities) will ensure a smooth flow of our class work and schedule. If (for some reason) you are absent, YOU are responsible for contacting me and explaining your situation as soon as possible. You are also responsible for finding out what work you miss, and for catching up with the rest of the class. Attending class is a priority!

'Merely attending classes while not participating and/or submitting poor quality work will affect your grade significantly-your ACTIVE participation is requested.

'You must attend more than 80% of class sessions to receive a passing grade. If you miss 3 consecutive classes, you will be dropped from the course and receive an 'F'. It is your responsibility to withdraw from class if you accrue excessive absences, or decide to discontinue the class. Students who discontinue attending class without withdrawing will receive an "F" grade, a grade that may affect their scholarship status.

Please refrain from using cell phones and other electronic devices while class is in session unless approved by the instructor. This request is out of courtesy and respect for your fellow classmates and to maintain a conducive atmosphere for productive learning.

Please be respectful and courteous to all members of this class. Inappropriate behavior will not be tolerated. Plagiarism, in any form, is unacceptable and will result in an 'F' automatically. There is absolutely no excuse for plagiarism.

DISCLAIMER: This syllabus is designed to evolve and change throughout the semester based on class progress and interests. You will be notified of any changes as they occur.
