The handbook may be changed at any time if deemed necessary. The policies and procedures contained herein supersede and revoke all prior policies or practices, oral and written representations, or statements regarding the terms and conditions of employment.

We are equally committed to providing employment opportunities for qualified Indians, with first preference to local Indians, as part of the Nation building goals of the College in accordance with Section 7.10 of the College Charter.

H. Legal Policy

This Legal Policy outlines the procedures College employees should follow when asked to be a witness regarding the College; for example, if asked to give testimony in an unemployment compensation hearing involving the College or before any Tribal, Federal, or State agency, or if the employee is served with a summons, subpoena, lawsuit, notice, and letters from lawyers, law enforcement officials or regulatory agency officials. The information is provided for general guidance only and is not a substitute for legal advice available from Legal Counsel for the College who only provides legal services related to official College activities.

From time to time, attorneys, investigators (including Tribal, Federal and State officials), or insurance company representatives contact College faculty members and staff to request information about the College, a student, employee, or faculty member without a subpoena. Whenever a faculty member or employee is contacted by anyone, including private attorneys, the Nation's attorneys, State's attorneys, U.S. Attorneys, Federal investigators, private investigators, or insurance company representatives, or the like, the employee must not disclose any information and must immediately notify the Human Resources Director about the inquiry. The inquiring person should be referred directly to the Human Resources Director who may refer the matter to Legal Counsel for the College. The College's Legal Counsel can work with the outside attorney or investigator regarding an appropriate response.

Voluntary disclosures of certain College records, information with or without a subpoena may be prohibited by law or contract, so prior to making any voluntary disclosures or submitting to a subpoena demanding information, please check with the Human Resources Director.

What to Do

Summonses and Subpoenas

1. If a process server appears at the employee's office with a summons or subpoena and attempts to serve him/her with court papers connected to his/her work at the College:

The employee should not accept any document the process server tries to hand the employee. Note: Pursuant to the TOCC Charter, the Tribal Chairman of the Nation is the statutory agent to receive any lawsuit filed against TOCC.

Direct the process server to the Human Resources Director's Office.

If the process server will not comply, the employee should call the Human Resources Director immediately (520-383-0050) and ask for the Human Resources Director to speak to the person. The Human Resources Director will consult with the College's Legal Counsel to determine whether the employee may accept service. Prompt action on the employee's part is required because usually only a short time frame exists for filing a response to a newly filed lawsuit.

2. If a process server appears at the employee's home with a summons or subpoena connected to his/her work at the College:

The employee should direct the process server to the Human Resources Director's Office at the College. If he/she is named personally in the summons or subpoena, he/she may have to accept service. In such a case, employee should note the date, time and manner of service and provide all the documents to the Human Resources Director as soon as possible. Prompt action on the employee's part is required because usually only a short time frame exists for filing a response to a newly filed lawsuit.

3. If the employee receives a summons or subpoena via U.S. regular or certified mail:

He/she must note the date and time of receipt on the envelope and keep the envelope and certified mail receipt. Walk all of the documents over to the Human Resources Director as soon as possible. Prompt action on the employee's part is required because usually only a short time frame exists for filing a response to a newly filed lawsuit.

The employee should keep a subpoena confidential if it requests information about a specific individual.

4. Calls and Visits from Attorneys, Law Enforcement Officials, or Regulatory Agency Investigators, including the FBI, CIA and INS, and Demand Letters or Other Inquiries from Attorneys:

Unless the matter involves a usual or customary interaction with a regulatory agency official (such as a reference check when the employee is presented with a signed release), the employee should politely and promptly refer the lawyer, law enforcement official or regulatory agency investigator immediately to the Human Resources Director who can contact Legal Counsel for the College. It is critical that the employee does not speak to attorneys, law enforcement officials or regulatory agency investigators about College matters without contacting the Human Resources Director first.

If the employee receives the call or visit after normal business hours, contact the Human Resources Director who will see that Legal Counsel for the College contacts the employee.

Compliance with this policy will enable the College to minimize the risk of litigation; reduce uncertainty and disruption in its affairs; and take advantage of its legal rights, protections, and opportunities.

The major responsibility of Legal Counsel for the College is to ensure that the legal rights and opportunities of the College and its employees are protected, and that their obligations are met.

Any employee who suspects that an attorney's advice might be helpful or necessary on a particular matter should promptly submit that matter to the Human Resources Director for review by Legal Counsel for the College. The matter should be submitted to the Human Resources Director in writing, with full background explanation and documentation, as far as possible in advance of the time for final action. It should first have been reviewed by the College Administrator responsible for the activity.

Attorney Client Privilege

For both legal and ethical reasons, confidentiality is of utmost importance in many matters referred to attorneys. In order to preserve confidentiality and legal privilege for oral and written communications between Legal Counsel for the College (or outside counsel) and other College employees, all matters involving Legal Counsel should be treated confidentially, unless they are obviously suitable for disclosure to the public.

College Administrators in their correspondence with Legal Counsel should state explicitly if they are "requesting legal advice," "anticipating litigation," or furnishing counsel "confidential information," since these points are important to creating and maintaining a legal privilege for the communications. Employees should also keep legal files segregated from open files. Legal files should be disclosed only on the strictest need-to-know basis and only within the College. In sensitive matters, employees should not create unnecessary documents.

The attorney-client privilege may apply to a College employee's communication regarding College business and activities. The employee should be aware that when an attorney who represents a party who has filed a claim, or is preparing to file a claim against the College, contacts the employee his/her capacity as a College employee for the purpose of interviewing him/her as a witness or as a potentially liable party, the attorney may be ethically restricted from questioning the employee if the attorney knows that the College is represented by Legal Counsel. This is particularly true when a College employee regularly consults with the College's Legal Counsel concerning a matter involving the College or has authority to obligate the College with respect to a matter or whose act or omission in connection with the matter may be imputed to the College for purposes of civil or criminal liability. Therefore, if the employee is contacted by attorneys to interview him/ her as a witness or as a potential defendant concerning College activities, advise the attorney immediately that the College has Legal Counsel and refer the inquiring attorney to the Human Resource Director who can contact Legal Counsel for the College.

I. Harassment Policy

The College is committed to promoting and maintaining a productive and educational environment free of all forms of discrimination and harassment. In keeping with that commitment, The College will not tolerate verbal or physical conduct by an employee or student that harasses, disrupts, or interferes with another's work performance or education or that creates an intimidating, offensive or hostile work or educational environment.

No form of harassment will be tolerated, including harassment for the following reasons: race, creed, color, national origin, religion, sexual orientation, marital status, ancestry, disability, pregnancy, age, military or veteran status or gender. Such behavior is unacceptable in the workplace and other work-related settings such as business trips and business meetings or business-related social events.

Sexual harassment is a form of sex discrimination and may involve individuals of the same sex or different sex. Sexual harassment or offensive conduct, whether committed by administrators, faculty, supervisors, staff, students or non-employees is prohibited.

Sexual harassment includes actions that result in:

Unwelcomed or unwanted conduct of a sexual nature, whether verbal or physical;
Submission to or rejection of this conduct by an individual is used as a factor in decisions affecting hiring, evaluation, promotion, or other aspects of employment;
Conduct that substantially interferes with an individual's employment, education, performance on the job, or creates an intimidating, hostile or offensive work environment.

Examples of sexual harassment may include, but are not limited to:

- Nonverbal actions such as leering, gesturing of a sexual nature, displaying of sexually suggestive objects or pictures, cartoons or posters;
- Unwanted sexual advances and unwelcome touching;
- Demands for sexual favors in exchange for employment benefits;
- Demeaning, insulting, intimidating or sexually suggestive comments about an individual's dress or body;
- Jokes, flirtations, advances or propositions of a sexual nature;
- Verbal abuse or comments of a sexual nature, derogatory comments or slurs

1. Complaint Procedure

Individuals who believe they have experienced conduct that is contrary to TOCC policies or who have concerns about such matters should file their complaints with the Human Resources Office.

Sexual harassment may also include harassment where the harasser is not an employee of the College, but is a student, vendor, contractor, or a member of the general public. If an employee feels harassed by any of the individuals noted above, a complaint should be filed in the same manner as if the harassment was by a co-worker or a supervisor.

College personnel at all levels are responsible for ensuring that the work environment is free of any form of harassment, and in particular, sexual harassment. Any member of the College community, especially administrators and supervisors who believes that actions or words constitute sexual harassment, has a responsibility to report the complaint immediately to the Human Resources Office. Individuals should not feel obligated to file their complaints with their immediate supervisor first before bringing the matter to the attention of the Human Resources Office. Any reported allegations of harassment or sexual harassment will be investigated promptly, thoroughly and impartially.

Every reasonable effort will be made to protect the privacy and confidentiality of all parties involved in the investigation, consistent with and subject to the College's need to investigate the report or complaint and/or implement decisions made in order to resolve the report or complaint or remedy conduct that is determined to constitute discrimination, harassment or retaliation. No representative of the College is authorized to promise complete confidentiality to any person who possesses information relevant to the investigation of a report or complaint, including the Complainant.

2. Reporting Procedure

Employees are encouraged to resolve harassment complaints promptly utilizing TOCC's policies, procedures and processes.

- a. An employee must begin the process by presenting a written complaint to the Human Resources Office within five (5) days after the alleged harassment.
- b. The appropriate College personnel will investigate all complaints of harassment in as impartial and confidential manner as possible. Unless otherwise required by law, the privacy of the charging party and the person accused of sexual harassment will be kept strictly confidential, except for those parties with a need to know. Persons complaining of sexual or other harassment will also be protected from reprisals and retaliation by the College or co-workers as a result of such complaints. If such retaliation does occur, it will be grounds for severe disciplinary action, which may be up to and including termination of employment.

J. Accommodations for Individuals with Disabilities

The College is committed to providing reasonable accommodations to qualified individuals. An employee may request a reasonable accommodation at any time during employment with the College. A reasonable accommodation is any change in the work environment or a request for special equipment that result in equal employment opportunity for an individual with a disability. While there are some things that are not considered reasonable accommodations (e.g., removal of an essential function or personal use items such as a hearing aid that is needed on and off the job), reasonable accommodations cover most things that enable an individual to apply for a job, perform a job, or have equal access to the workplace.

Some examples of accommodations include acquiring or modifying equipment, job restructuring, modifying work schedules, reassignment to a vacant position, adjusting or modifying examinations, training materials or policies, providing readers and interpreters, and making the workplace readily accessible to and usable by people with disabilities.

The College will implement an accommodation as long as:

- It is reasonable.
- It is medically necessary (i.e., there is competent medical evidence establishing a relationship between the disability and the need for accommodation).

- It does not impose an undue hardship on the College. Undue hardship is defined by the ADA as an action that is “excessively costly, extensive, substantial, disruptive, or that would fundamentally alter the nature or operation of the business.”

If an employee with a disability wants or needs reasonable accommodation, it is the responsibility of the employee to request such accommodation in writing, as well as to provide the college with documentation of the disability to the office of human resources. (Medical reports of records, diagnostic evaluations, a letter(s) from a qualified medical professional or completion of the disability verification form are examples of such documentation). The College requires up to twenty-one working days’ notice to provide disability related "reasonable accommodation" or assistance to the person requesting accommodation, provided the accommodation does not create an undue hardship on the financial or structural operation of the college. Whenever possible, the college may provide reasonable accommodation(s) with less than a twenty-one-day working notice provided an undue hardship on the financial or structural operation of the college does not exist.

An accommodation request begins with the employee notifying a supervisor of the need for an accommodation because of limitations caused by a disability.

The employee’s supervisor will then assist the employee in completing a Request for Accommodation form and submitting it to the College’s Human Resource Office.

On a case-by-case basis pending confirmation of the disability or identification of a reasonable accommodation, the employee may be assigned modified duties, for up to 10 days, depending upon the nature of the disability.

The employee will be requested to sign a Release of Information form for the Human Resource Office to obtain verification of the disability and any limitations due to the disability.

If an accommodation is approved, the Human Resource Office will notify the supervisor and the employee. The employee’s supervisor will be responsible for implementation of an approved accommodation.

If the determination is made through the application of this process that the individual is not a “qualified individual”, the internal process for the provision of an accommodation is concluded. The requesting employee has the right to file a formal complaint of discrimination on the basis of disability outside the College with the Tribal Employment Rights Office once the internal process has been concluded.

K. Drug, Alcohol and Smoke Free Workplace

The Tohono O’odham Community College has a strong commitment to the community, students and employees to provide a safe, learning and working environment. Drugs, alcohol, and smoking pose a significant threat to the College’s goals. While it is not the intention of the College to intrude into the private lives of its employees, the College does expect its employees to conduct their work free from the influence of alcohol or drugs and smoking. The College will enforce the policy of a drug and alcohol-free workplace.

Any individual, who conducts business for the College, applies for a position, or conducts business on the College's property, including college vehicles, is covered by the drug and alcohol-free workplace policy. The College's policy includes all college employees.

Employees who are injured while on the job and are under the influence of alcohol or illegal drugs, may be denied benefits under Workers' Compensation.

The College's alcohol, drugs and smoke free workplace policy is intended to apply whenever employees are representing or conducting business for the College.

Therefore, this policy applies during all working hours, whenever conducting business or representing the College, and at College-sponsored events.

The unauthorized possession, use, sale, offer to sell or trade, or distribution of illegal drugs or alcoholic beverages during working hours, on College property, which includes College owned vehicles, is strictly prohibited.

Anyone under the influence of alcohol or any controlled substance while at work is subject to immediate disciplinary action up to and including termination of employment.

Any employee who is convicted of a criminal drug or alcohol violation must notify the College in writing within five (5) working days of the conviction. The College will take appropriate action within thirty (30) days of notification. Federal contracting agencies will be notified when appropriate. Failure to notify the College will result in disciplinary actions, up to and including termination of employment.

In the case of applicants, if the applicant violates the drug-free workplace policy, the offer of employment shall be withdrawn. The applicant may reapply after six (6) months and must successfully pass a pre-employment drug test.

DRUG AND ALCOHOL TESTING

The cost for drug and alcohol testing will be the responsibility of the applicant if he/she has a drug related conviction. If the College chooses to conduct drug and alcohol testing, the cost will be paid by the College.

The College reserves the right to require a drug and/or alcohol test under the following circumstances:

- Pre-employment;
- Compliance with federal regulations and safety-sensitive jobs;
- Reasonable cause to believe the employee may be under the influence of drugs or alcohol;
- Objective evidence of drug presence in the workplace;
- After an accident, if it is believed that drugs or alcohol may be a factor;
- As necessary after the employee's participation in a drug or alcohol rehabilitation program.

The results of all drug/alcohol tests are confirmed in writing and the applicant/employee is entitled to a copy of the results. Only those in management positions with a need to know will be informed of the results of a test.

An employee who tests positive will be given an opportunity to disclose and prove, in a confidential setting, that the results may have been caused by prescription or nonprescription drugs taken legally, or to explain other circumstances that may have caused positive results. If the positive results are not due a legal prescription, the employee will be subject to disciplinary action.

The disciplinary action is generally a minimum of two weeks suspension without pay up to and including termination. The disciplinary action taken will depend on the circumstances and the employee's previous employment records. Refusal to take a required test will have the same consequences as failing a test.

If an employee violates the drug/alcohol free workplace policy, the employee may be required to enter rehabilitation. In such cases, the employee must sign and abide by the terms set forth in a Return-to-Work Agreement as a condition of continued employment. An employee required to enter rehabilitation who fails to successfully complete it and/or repeatedly violates the College's drug/alcohol free workplace policy, will be terminated from employment. Nothing in this policy prohibits the employee from being disciplined or discharged for other violations, rules infractions, and/or substandard job performance problems.

The College recognizes that alcohol and drug abuse and addiction are treatable illnesses. TOCC strongly supports the efforts of its employees to improve their physical, emotional and psychological health.

In support of the College's employees, the College:

1. Allows the use of accrued paid leave while seeking treatment for alcohol and other drug problems.
2. Advises that treatment for alcoholism and/or other drug use disorders may be covered by the employee benefit plan. However, the ultimate financial responsibility for recommended treatment is that of the employee.

All information received by the College through the drug and alcohol-free workplace program is confidential communication. Access to this information is limited to those who have a legitimate need to know in compliance with relevant laws and TOCC's policies.

In addition, employees are encouraged to:

1. Be concerned about working in an unsafe environment.
2. Report dangerous behavior to their supervisor.

Communication of the College's drug and alcohol-free workplace policy is the responsibility of both supervisors and employees and is critical to the goals of the College. To ensure all employees are aware of their role in supporting the drug/alcohol-free workplace program, the College's policy will be reviewed in orientation sessions with new employees.

L. Criminal Offense Convictions Policy

When the College becomes aware that a current employee has been convicted of a criminal offense, either as a result of a criminal background check or through other means, the College will consider the following factors in determining continuing employment:

The nature and gravity of the offense(s), when conviction and/or completion of any related sentence occurred, and the nature of the job assignment. Current employees must self-identify within thirty (30) days of having pled no contest to, pled guilty to, or been convicted of a felony. Failure to comply with this requirement may result in immediate termination.

Criminal history record information is regarded as confidential and will be released only when consistent with applicable law.

M. Nepotism

If the College already employs a member of the applicant's immediate family, the applicant will not be considered for employment unless one of the three conditions below is met. These conditions are as follows:

1. The immediate family member is employed in a part-time position; or
2. The immediate family member is not directly supervised or directly affected by the supervision of an immediate member of his/her family; or
3. A related employee or board member has taken no part in the screening, interviewing, or hiring of his/her immediate family member.

N. Consensual Relationships

The College strongly believes that an environment where employees maintain clear boundaries between employee personal and business interactions is most effective for conducting business. Therefore, during working time and in working areas employees are expected to keep personal exchanges limited so that others are not distracted or offended by such exchanges and so productivity is maintained. Employees are prohibited from engaging in physical contact that would in any way be deemed inappropriate by a reasonable person while anywhere on College premises or in College vehicles.

Employees who allow personal relationships with coworkers to affect the working environment will be subject to the appropriate provisions of the College disciplinary policy, which may include counseling for minor problems. Failure to change behavior and maintain expected work responsibilities is viewed as a serious disciplinary matter. An employee's off-duty conduct is generally regarded as private, as long as such conduct does not create problems within the workplace.

The College prohibits any consensual amorous relationship involving a faculty member and student, supervisor and employee, or tutor/counselor and student, where the faculty, supervisor, or tutor/counselor has direct authority, influence, or responsibility with respect to that student or employee. Supervisors, managers, or anyone in sensitive or influential positions must disclose the existence of any relationship with another coworker that has progressed beyond a platonic friendship.

Disclosure may be made to the immediate supervisor or the Human Resources Office. This disclosure will enable the College to determine whether any conflict of interest exists because of the relative positions of the individuals involved. Where doubts exist as to the specific meaning of the terms used above, employees should make judgments on the basis of the overall spirit and intent of this policy. Any employee, who feels that he/she has been disadvantaged as a result of this policy, or who believes this policy is not adhered to, should bring it to the attention of Human Resources.

O. Outside Employment

No employee may engage in additional employment which in any manner interferes with the proper and effective performance of regular duties, or which results in a conflict of interest. All full-time college employees must recognize that their first employment responsibility is to the college and their assignments. If a full-time college employee does accept outside employment, the employee will not be permitted to use any college staff, equipment, supplies or facilities to promote or assist in his/her outside assignment. The college employee may not use the college name, logo, telephone number, or address on any material such as letterheads, business cards, or brochures in the promotion of his/her outside business or employment. Employees who hold the position of director, associate dean, dean, chief officer and president are required to annually report any outside employment. Employees with outside employment must notify their immediate supervisor in writing and complete the Potential Conflict of Interest Form. If the division Dean determines that such outside employment is detrimental to the College's interest, the employee shall terminate such employment

P. Personnel Records

Personnel files for all College employees are confidential and secured for safety in the Human Resource Office. A personnel file shall be established for each individual having a valid College contract or letter of appointment upon date of employment and said file will be maintained as a repository for official College personnel records and documents. The file shall contain all relevant, job-related documents of the employee.

It is the employee's responsibility to keep all personal information such as legal name change, address, contact phone numbers and emergency notification current in the employee's personnel file. Other changes, such as marital status, birth of children, number of dependents for tax purposes, dependents covered by medical insurance, and named beneficiaries for life insurance that affect benefits and insurance plans is the responsibility of the employee to notify the Human Resources Office promptly when such changes occur. It is the responsibility of the administrative supervisor to ensure that the Human Resources Office is notified of all other employment related changes in a timely manner. To add dependents to a medical plan, an employee must inform Human Resources within 30 days of an event such as a birth, adoption, or marriage.

Reference and credit checks and similar requests will be answered only with a statement as to whether the employee is presently employed, the employee's current or last job title, work location, and period of employment. Salary may be verified only if the employee gives written permission. Otherwise, no personal information will be released to anyone outside the College unless it is required by law.

If an active employee wishes to see his/her personnel file, contact the Human Resources Office and arrangements will be made for the employee to review it in the presence of a human resources representative. The employee may request a copy of any document contained in the employment file or add a statement to the file if requested.

Q. Visitors

In order to assure the safety and security of College staff, students, visitors and its property, and to ensure that only authorized personnel have access to the facilities, the following policies have been adopted:

Employee Responsibilities: Each employee has shared responsibility for assisting in the monitoring of visitors on campus. In case of a suspicious person or activity, the employee should notify his/her immediate supervisor so that appropriate action may be initiated.

A "Visitor" sign in sheet at the front desk will be a form of monitoring. Information should include name, whom they are visiting, purpose of visit, time and date.

R. Personal Phone Calls

Personal phone calls during working hours distract employees from their job responsibilities and may be disruptive to coworkers. Employees should therefore limit the placing or receiving of personal calls during working hours to those required by an emergency situation.

This policy applies to the use of College phone equipment as well as cell phones. Employees are expected to inform friends and family members of this policy and will be held accountable for their actions under the company's disciplinary procedure.

Employees contacted by creditors or collection agencies should immediately inform the caller of the College's policy and end the call. They should then follow up with the agency in writing advising them not to call them at work. Creditors failing to honor such a request can be reported to the Federal Trade Commission at www.ftc.gov or to the State of Arizona State Banking Department, which regulates off-reservation collection agencies.

S. Attire

The Tohono O'odham Community College (TOCC) has practiced a relaxed working environment, however TOCC is still a business. Employees are responsible for ensuring that their attire projects a positive image to co-workers, students, and campus visitors.

The purpose of this dress code is to provide guidelines to help employees determine appropriate attire.

In general, clothing that is neat, clean, in good taste and not torn or frayed is appropriate for TOCC. Clothing should be comfortable and practical for work however, clothing with words, pictures, or logos that may be offensive to others is unacceptable. Sheer clothing or clothing that is otherwise revealing, distracting, or provocative is not appropriate.

1. Shirts, Tops, and Blouses

Casual shirts, polo shirts, and t-shirts are acceptable. Tank tops, midriff tops, and halter tops and excessively revealing necklines are unacceptable.

2. Pants and Slacks

Casual slacks, khakis and jeans are acceptable as are capris. Sweatpants, exercise pants, short shorts, leggings and spandex or form fitting pants similar to biking pants are unacceptable.

3. Skirts and Dresses

Casual dresses and skirts are acceptable if the length is such that one can sit comfortably. Excessively short and/or tight skirts, sun dresses, and spaghetti strap dresses are not appropriate.

4. Shoes and Footwear

Flip-flops, slippers and similar shoes are not acceptable.

Managers and supervisors are responsible for monitoring these guidelines. If an employee's attire is deemed inappropriate, the employee will be asked to follow the dress conventions and not wear the offending clothing. The employee may be subject to disciplinary action, if inappropriate clothing continues to be worn.

No dress code can cover all contingencies. Employees should exercise good judgment about acceptable clothing. Questions regarding the dress code should be addressed by the employee's supervisor or Human Resources.

Section II. Employment

A. Employment Status

It is the intent of the College to clarify the definitions of employment classifications so that employees understand their employment status and benefit eligibility. These classifications do not guarantee employment for any specified period of time. The right to terminate the employment relationship at will at any time is retained by both the employee and the College.

All employees are designated as either Exempt or Non-Exempt under Federal wage and hour laws.

Non-exempt employees shall be paid at least minimum wage and receive overtime compensation for all hours worked in excess of forty (40) hours in a workweek. After conferring with the administrator in charge, utilizing the job description, assessing the target population and surveying the salary requirements, a salary determination will be made for the position.

2. Salary Schedules

Salaries for the different positions are determined by surveying the salaries of employees in similar positions in the recruitment area and at other tribal and community colleges of similar size and/or environment (i.e. remote educational institutions, student enrollment, and schools with similar funding). Established criteria and the ability of the College to pay the salaries will determine the salary schedules. Salary schedules are developed for each employee category.

Hiring above the entry rate will be on an exception basis only, with the approval of the President or President's designee, and based on legitimate business or recruitment needs and/or the qualifications and abilities of the person selected. The President has the discretion to place new employees up to a maximum of 5% above entry level.

- d. Promotion - Upon promotion to a classification in a higher salary range, an employee shall be placed on the appropriate level, based on education and experience.
- e. Maximum Salary Range - When an employee reaches the maximum salary on the salary schedule, the salary will be "frozen" until such time that a cost of living adjustment is made to increase the overall salary schedule unless otherwise determined by the Board.

The adjusted pay range will be in effect as authorized by the Department Head after the initial thirty (30) calendar daytime period has expired, retroactive to the first day of assigned detailed work, and for the duration of the detail assignment.
2. A detail will normally be limited to four (4) months. Exceptions must be approved by the Human Resources Office.

F. Appointment of Part-Time and Temporary Positions

The College ascribes to the following non-discrimination policy:

The College is committed to a program of equal opportunity for education, employment, and participation in college activities without regard to race, color, gender, age, religious creed, political ideas, marital status, disabilities, sexual orientation, national origin or ancestry. For example, a typical flextime arrangement is arrival at 10:00 am and departure at 7:00 pm.

Supervisors approve flextime on a case-by-case basis. Full-time employees who have completed at least six months of employment are eligible for flextime. The employee must first discuss possible flextime arrangements with his/her supervisor and then submit a written request using the Flextime Request Form. The supervisor will approve or deny the flextime request based on staffing needs, the employee's job duties, the employee's work record, and the employee's ability to temporarily or permanently return to a standard work schedule when needed.

A flextime arrangement may be suspended or cancelled at any time with proper notification to the employee.

Section IV. Leave

A. Administrative Leave

Administrative leave with pay is at the discretion of the President or his/her designee. Administrative Leave shall be granted under unusual or extraordinary circumstances as determined by the President or his/her designee. No division or department may close without prior authorization from the President or his/her designee.

B. Annual Leave

Annual leave for full-time non-faculty employees is accrued at a rate of six (6) hours per pay period and part-time staff rate of accrual is proportionate to their regular assigned hours compared to the standard full-time schedule of forty (40) hours per week from the date of employment. Employees may carryover a maximum of 80 hours in the calendar year accrued.

After four (4) years of employment, full-time employees will accrue annual leave at a rate of seven (7) hours per pay period and part-time staff will accrue annual leave at a proportionate rate with a maximum carryover of 120 hours in the calendar year accrued.

After ten (10) years of employment, full-time employees will accrue annual leave at a rate of eight (8) hours per pay period and part-time employee will accrue annual leave at a proportionate rate with the same maximum carryover of 120 hours in the calendar year accrued.

The maximum accumulation of carryover hours for each full-time non-faculty employee shall not exceed 240 hours (six work weeks not including holidays) of annual leave and part-time employee shall not exceed 120 hours of annual leave. Annual leave cannot be accrued by or granted to temporary employees or adjunct faculty employees.

An exception to the thirty (30) days is if there is a pre-arranged annual leave agreement with the hiring supervisor. If an employee terminates in good standing, he or she will receive pay for unused, earned annual leave, except as provided by these Personnel Policies.

Employees do not earn annual leave hours when they are not working while on, worker's compensation, family leave, or disability programs, or when on certain other types of leave to include leave without pay. Employees should consult their personnel policies and the Human Resource office for clarification.

1. Request for Leave

All annual leave requests require the employee to submit a "Time off Request" via Paychex Flex two (2) weeks prior to the requested leave time. Exceptions may be made for emergencies.

a. Granting Annual Leave

The immediate supervisor may approve annual leave online for all eligible personnel. Personnel are encouraged to plan annual leave time with their supervisor and others affected by the employee's absence, subject to the immediate supervisor's approval. In the event of conflict among the staff for leave time, the supervisor will make the determination if leave is granted and to whom.

b. Disapproval of Annual Leave

Annual leave requests made after the fact may not be approved, unless the employee supplies proof of an emergency to the supervisor. The supervisor has discretionary authority to approve or disapprove leave in an emergency situation. If disapproved, the employee will be charged leave without pay in addition to any applicable disciplinary action as warranted.

2. Annual leave cash out

An eligible employee may cash out a portion of his/her annual leave during the last pay period of the calendar year provided the employee has accumulated the maximum allowable carryover as of the first full pay period in December. The employee may receive up to 80 hours at 50% of the employee's rate of hourly pay. The number of hours for which an employee may receive a payout will be based on year of hire.

C. Sick Leave

All full-time employees of the College will be eligible for sick leave accrued at the rate of three (3) hours per pay period from the date of employment. Part-time employees accrue sick leave hours at a proportionate rate per pay period from the date of employment. Sick leave will not be earned during a pay period in which the employee has taken leave without pay, or is on industrial, disability, unpaid family leave or other leave programs.

An employee will forfeit all unused sick leave upon the termination date of employment at the College.

The use of sick leave will be governed by the following policies:

Sick leave may be used in case the of necessity when the employee is ill, injured, or disabled or when illness or injury of the employee's dependent or adult children, other legal dependents, spouses or parents requires the employee to be absent from work.

When an employee is absent on sick leave, the employee must notify the employee's supervisor on the morning of the day the employee or immediate family member is sick.

To use sick leave to care for a dependent or adult child or legal dependent other than a child, spouse, or parent, the employee must supply to the supervisor a physician's statement that confirms that the employee's assistance is required. The College reserves the right to request proof of legal dependency.

An employee on sick leave for more than three (3) consecutive days must submit a doctor's statement to the Human Resources Office. Before returning to work, an employee who is absent for more than one week because of illness or injury normally will be asked to submit a physician's statement that the employee is able to return to work.

When an employee expends all sick leave, annual leave may be used. When all forms of paid leave have been exhausted, the employee may use donated sick leave. When the donated sick leave has been expended the employee may be placed on leave without pay until the employee returns to work, subject to the immediate supervisor's approval and documentation from the Employee's physician.

D. Donated Leave

An employee may donate up to 50% of accrued unused sick leave to another employee. If the employee has less than 40 hours of accrued unused sick leave, he/she may donate up to 50% of accrued unused annual leave.

The decision to donate leave to an eligible recipient should be a choice made freely by each employee. Any person attempting to unduly influence another employee to donate leave shall be subject to disciplinary action and any prior agreement made to donate leave under these conditions shall be void.

The College authorizes the voluntary transfer of leave between employees in situations meeting all of the following requirements:

- B. Recipient - Must obtain a physician’s statement confirming the illness or injury and its anticipated duration and complete the sick leave donation request form. Return the form to the Human Resource Office. Employee must exhaust the balances of accumulated sick and annual leave, and any other leave, prior to actually receiving donated sick leave hours. An eligible employee receiving donated sick leave days will not accrue additional leave for those days.
- C. Donor - Complete the Sick and Annual Leave Donation Request Form and return to the Human Resource Office.
- D. Process - This program is strictly a voluntary program; therefore, the College does not guarantee that applicants whose situations warrant participation in the program will receive the requested sick or annual leave. The Human Resource Office will publicize at the request of the recipient, the need for such leave for qualifying requests. The Human Resources Office will not “bank” donations. Unused donated leave will be returned to the donor(s) after 90 days. The Human Resource Office will then request the Finance Office to transfer the days and adjust sick leave balances accordingly.

E. Emergency Administrative Leave

The President or the President’s designee, because of inclement weather or emergencies arising from disasters such as fire, flood, and other natural phenomena, may grant an employee administrative leave.

1. In response to national, tribal or local emergency declared by the Tohono O’odham Nation or the U.S. government, the President of Tohono O’odham Community College (“College”) is authorized to grant Emergency Administrative Leave, including Paid Administrative Leave, to College Employees when:

 - c. There are no other effective alternatives available such as authorizing work from home or altering the location of work for the employees who are granted Emergency Administrative Leave.

2. Prior to making a determination under subsection 1, the President shall ensure that:
 - a. The College has in place an established written leave policy that allows for Paid Emergency Administrative Leave (e.g., this section)
 - b. The costs of such leave are equitably allocated to all related activities, including Federal awards; and

- c. The accounting basis (cash or accrual) selected for costing each type of leave is consistently followed by the non-Federal entity or specified grouping of employees¹
- 3. The President will issue written notification to affected employees specifying:
 - a. The employees granted Emergency Administrative Leave by class or title;
 - b. The basis for granting Emergency Administrative Leave under this Policy;
 - c. The duration of the Emergency Administrative Leave.
- 4. The President has the authority to enact intermittent or ongoing, as relevant, Emergency Administrative Leave to all or classes of employees in response to any pandemic that requires social distancing as a mechanism to prevent the spread of a virus.

G. Family and Medical Leave Act Policy

The Family and Medical Leave Act (FMLA) of 1993 grants eligible employees (after 1250 hours of employment) up to twelve work weeks of unpaid leave within a twelve-month period. Leave may be taken intermittently or on a part-time basis under certain circumstances. An amendment to the FMLA by the National Defense Authorization Act for FY 2008 (NDAA), Public Law 110-181 expanded it to include military family leave entitlements.

~~As amended by the Board of Trustees – November 12, 2020~~

¹According to federal regulation, when a non-Federal entity uses the cash basis of accounting, the cost of leave is recognized in the period that the leave is taken and paid for. Payments for unused leave when an employee retires or terminates employment are allowable in the year of payment. Further, the accrual basis may be only used for those types of leave for which a liability as defined by GAAP exists when the leave is earned. When a non-Federal entity uses the accrual basis of accounting, allowable leave costs are the lesser of the amount accrued or funded.

FMLA leave may be requested:

1. For the birth and care of a newborn child or care of a child newly placed with the employee for adoption or foster care;
2. For a serious health condition that makes the employee unable to perform any one of the essential functions of the employee's job;
3. To care for the employee's child, other legal dependent, spouse, or parent with a serious health condition;
4. For qualifying exigencies while the employee's spouse, son, daughter, or parent is on covered active duty or called to covered active duty status (or has been notified of an impending call or order to covered active duty).

For an employee who is the spouse, son, daughter, parent, or next of kin of a caring for a covered military service member or veteran recovering from a serious injury or illness, as defined by FMLA's regulations up to a total of 26 workweeks of unpaid leave during a "single 12-month period" Family and Medical Leave Act is unpaid leave and must be substituted with accrued paid leave.

The employee must exhaust sick leave then annual leave. Once sick and annual leave has been depleted, FMLA entitlements will become leave without pay. Any preapproved FMLA leave that is later determined to not be a FMLA qualified absence, will be converted to leave without pay and the employee could be subject to disciplinary action depending on the circumstances.

The employee's health benefits will be maintained as if the employee continued to be actively employed. If paid leave is substituted for unpaid family medical leave, TOCC will deduct the employee's portion of the health plan premium as a regular payroll deduction. If the leave is unpaid, the employee must pay his or her portion of the premium through a prearranged agreement with Human Resources.

At the end of the leave granted under the FMLA, subject to TOCC rights as an employer under Section 104 of the FMLA, an employee will be entitled to be restored in the employee's prior job or to an equivalent position with equivalent pay, employment benefits and other terms and conditions of employment at the College.

An employee with a FMLA-qualifying reason should contact the Human Resources Office and the employee's immediate supervisor regarding a need for FMLA leave. The employee will be provided the Tohono O'odham Community College's Family Medical Leave Act policy and procedures. The supervisor and others involved must maintain confidentiality with regard to personal and/or medical documents. Copies of the employee's medical reports may not be retained in the supervisor's office.

The purpose of the leave is to study, travel, research, and write. The leave will be designed to improve the faculty or administrator's professional and occupational knowledge, skills, and abilities.

Upon returning to the Campus, the employee will submit a written report and a formal presentation to the President and the Board of Trustees concerning the employee's activities during leave.

Sabbatical leave time may be for a period of three (3), six (6), nine (9), or twelve (12) months or any portion thereof. Employees granted sabbatical leave are required to work at the College the equivalent of the approved leave upon completion of the employee's sabbatical leave. If an employee fails to meet this condition, the employee will be required to pay leave costs if it is a paid leave. If it is unpaid leave, and the employee fails to return to work, the employee shall forfeit all accrued annual and sick leave.

If the employee's leave without pay status is the result of the expiration of his or her family medical leave and/or exhausted leave (sick, annual and donated leave), the employee's medical, dental, vision, disability, and life insurance benefits will be extended for another 30 days. Afterwards, the extended coverage for health coverage through COBRA will be available at the employee's expense (to include costs normally paid by the College) for the duration of the leave without pay.

G. Types of Disciplinary Action

Disciplinary action is intended to deter unprofessional conduct and provide an opportunity for improvement, if feasible.

The following are types of disciplinary actions that will be used, if necessary or appropriate, to enforce the College's employee work rules and standards of conduct. The type and degree of disciplinary action will be determined by the nature of the offense and could include any or all of the following actions in any sequence or combination thereof depending on the totality of the circumstances including the employee's previous work history:

- 4. Termination - The President may terminate an employee. If the employee is terminated, the employee will be notified in writing of the action.

Section VII. Grievance Procedure

A. Grievance

The Grievance Procedure does not pertain to contracted workers, who are not regular employees. Contracted workers are governed by the signed contract.

This procedure applies to all full-time regular faculty, exempt, and non-exempt employees of the College. The intent of the grievance procedure is to provide a method of resolving disputes at the lowest level possible. The grievance procedure is recognized as a non-judicial, administrative process. Failure to follow the grievance process in a timely manner will result in the grievance being dismissed.

An employee may file a grievance when a representative of the College is alleged to have violated one or more sections of the Personnel Policy Handbook and other TOCC policies. The employee may also file a grievance for a negative written action that the employee has received. The initial grievance will remain the same until it is resolved. All recordings are property of the College. The submission of an informal grievance must be in writing and include the following:

1. Identify the alleged violation;
2. Contain a concise statement of the facts surrounding the grievance;
3. State the remedy sought; and
4. Be signed and dated by the employee.

The grievance procedures do not apply to complaints solely related to:

1. Performance or progress reports; improvement plans; program review
2. Work assignments, including work location; schedule changes; reassignment and other work-related directives given by a supervisor.
3. Job classification and compensation, including salary adjustments.
4. Administrative leave or suspension with pay.
5. Recommendation and notification for non-reappointment; reduction in force.
6. Notification of failure to successfully complete initial probationary period.
7. Hiring decisions, including internal promotion decisions.
8. Decisions that a complaint is not grievable.

If Human Resources Office determines the complaint cannot be grieved pursuant to these procedures, the grievance will be returned to the aggrieved party with a written explanation.

No reprisals shall be taken against any grievant, representative, or other participant in the grievance process because of such participation. It is not considered proper if an employee abuses the process by raising grievances in bad faith or solely for the purpose of delay or harassment or by repeatedly raising grievances that a reasonable person would judge to have no merit.

Step One: Informal Resolution Procedure

An employee's request for an informal resolution must be initiated with the employee's immediate supervisor with a copy to the Human Resource Office within five (5) working days of the occurrence or incident.

The supervisor will investigate and hold a conference with both parties and a Human Resource Representative to resolve the concern and give a response to the employee within five (5) working days thereafter. If the employee is not satisfied with the supervisor's response at this informal stage, the employee may proceed with a formal grievance by following the procedures in Step Two.

No allegations of other policy violations may be added to the appeal, although additional examples or other documentation regarding the incident that led to the initiation of the formal grievance process may be added.

Step Two: Formal Grievance

A formal grievance begins at the lowest level at which a resolution can be granted and must be filed within five (5) working days of the supervisor's response to the employee at the informal resolution stage.

Submission of Written Grievance- If the employee and the employee's immediate supervisor have not resolved the grievance in Step One, the Informal Resolution Procedure, the employee may submit a formal grievance in writing to the next level supervisor within five (5) working days of the Step One Response. If the grievance is against the immediate supervisor, the employee may submit a formal grievance in writing to the next level supervisor within five (5) working days of the occurrence or incident.

Failure to submit the grievance in writing within the stated time will be considered adequate grounds for dismissal of the grievance.

The submission of a written formal grievance must:

1. Identify the alleged violation;
2. Contain a concise statement of the facts surrounding the grievance;
3. State the remedy sought;
4. Include a copy of the Supervisor's Informal Response in Step One, if applicable and;
5. Be signed and dated by the employee.

Any formal grievance, which does not contain these elements, may be rejected.

The deciding administrator shall conduct such meetings with the aggrieved and others necessary to render a written decision.

A one-time extension may be approved by the next level supervisor under extreme circumstances and is limited to another five (5) working days.

Step Three: President's Review

A written request for the President's review of a written grievance must be filed by the employee with the President within five (5) working days of the deciding administrator's written decision in Step Two if the employee is not satisfied with the decision. Failure to submit the grievance in writing within the stated time will be considered adequate grounds for dismissal of the grievance.

The President may conduct such meetings with the aggrieved and others as deemed necessary to render a decision.

A time extension may be approved by the Board under extreme circumstances and is limited to another five (5) working days. The President must render his/her decision within five (5) working days of receipt of the employee's written grievance.

Step Four: Board of Trustees

If the decision of the President or the President's designee (Step Three of the Grievance Procedure) is unsatisfactory to the grieving party, the grieving party may go to Step Four and file an appeal to the Board of Trustees. The appeal must be made in writing and addressed to the Secretary of the Board and filed with Human Resources within five (5) working days of the conclusion of the previous proceeding.

The grieving party must have timely completed steps one through three of the Grievance Procedure before filing an appeal to the Board of Trustees.

After the hearing has concluded, Board Members will go into executive session to discuss the testimony of the grieving party and the Respondents and the documents provided and render a decision. The decision of the Board must be made and delivered in writing to the grieving party and the Respondents within five (5) working days of receipt of the appeal.

The hearing and decision of the Board is the final step in the College grievance process and may not be appealed any further administratively within the College. Employees must timely exhaust the College's grievance process before seeking an external legal remedy of the grievance.
